VISITORS WERE NUMEROUS

No Possible Chance for President

McKinley to Become Lonely.

SENATOR PLATT A CALLER

Greek Mission Now Said to Be

Picked Out for Rockhill—Editor

Nixon, of Chicago, a Welcome

Visitor—Whole West Interested in Having President Visit Utah.

A large part of President McKinley's time yesterday was taken up by the applicants for the readership of deeds and their friends. There were several applications and their friends also who did not see the President, but who waited a long time for that purpose; so that the atmosphere, both in the outer and inner court, was filled with the possibilities of the recognition of all day long.

There is no necessity for any further display of interest in the matter now, however, as ex-Congressman Cheatham, of North Carolina, has been selected for the much coveted office.

It is announced that there is a strong possibility that the mission to be given

Mr. William Woodville Rockhill is that to Greece. As announced heretofore in The Times, Mr. Rockhill has been promised a position in the diplomatic service not less important than that which he had until last week occupied in the State Department.

This position may be the Chinese mission, for which he is peculiarly well fitted, or it that should seem too large for a Democrat it may be the mission to Greece.

It is even said that Mr. Rockhill has been offered the latter.

The other applicants for the Greek mission are Capt. M. J. Stanley, of Bowling Green, Ohio, who is not thought to have much chance, and Dr. Hopkins, of Atlanta, who probably stands next to Mr. Rockhill in the probabilities of the case.

The wish to have President McKinley visit Utah this summer has assumed important proportions. The whole West seems to have united with Utah. The first delegation that called at the White House yesterday made this apparent. It contained besides the Utah people Senators and representatives from nearly every Western

State.

The Utah delegation itself consisted of Mr. George Q. Cannon, president of the Mormon Church; Senator Frank Cannon,

Mr. P. J. Lammann, editor of the Salt Lake

Tribune; Judge Barth, of the Utah supreme court; Senator Rawlins, of Utah; Congressman Shafroth and Mr. William J. King. Those who accompanied them were Senator Perkins, Per-grew, Carter, White, Wilson, Shoup, Warren and Delegate Mark Smith, of Arizona.

The delegation made a large and prosperous-looking body. The President had the gentlemen with him for half an hour.

He promised them that if Congress had advised when the exposition takes place he would make every effort to visit them.

The delegation went from the White House to call on the Vice President.

The exposition begins on July 20 and culminates on July 24, the anniversary of the day on which the Mormon pioneers arrived at Salt Lake.

Senator Platt and Congressman Hurley were among the early callers. Senator Platt said they wished to have Mr. George W. Hart, of Brooklyn, made consul to Toronto. If he called on any other business he did not disclose it.

Col. A. E. Buck, the new minister to Japan, had a long interview with the President, possibly over Georgia appointments.

The Hon. John S. Smyth, a prominent member of the House, who was for nine years minister to Liberia, called at the White House this morning. He says that he does not wish to go back to Liberia.

William Penn Nixon, editor of the Chicago Tribune, took luncheon with President McKinley yesterday. Mr. Nixon is the heartiest candidate for collector of the port of Chicago, to succeed Mr. Martin J. Russell, and is said to have a sure thing.

A delegation of Alabama called. They will later be wanted for office, but made no applications yesterday. They were Gay

C. Sibbey, of Mobile; Capt. A. B. Jones, Jr., of Mobile; Mr. J. W. Burke and Mr. William Vaughan. Mr. Vaughan is the State chairman of Alabama.

Senator Wellington called with Mr. James

M. Stuart, who is the regular candidate, endorsed by the Maryland delegation, for sub-treasurer at Baltimore. The subtreasurership is the largest Federal position in Maryland, with a $4,500 salary attachment.

Senator Spooner introduced two Wisconsin friends, Mr. A. L. Sabin, of Madison, and Rev. Corydon Miller.

Senator Lodge and Congressman Gillett and McCall introduced Col. Henry A.

Thomas, who has been chosen postmaster at Alton to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the former postmaster.

Representative Hawley and G. L. Slorecht, of La Grange, Texas, called upon the President. Mr. Slorecht is an applicant for the marshaling of the Western district of Texas.

Senator Foraker and Representative Grovernor, of Ohio; Senator Romero, the Mexican minister to Italy; Postmaster General Gary, Gen.

Bingham, of Pennsylvania; ex-Senator Blair, Civil Service Commissioner Harlow, Congressman Lamb and Tracy L. Jeffords, were among yesterday's callers.

Personal.

Mr. O'Brien Moore, the correspondent of the St. Louis Republic, who recently purchased the diamond necklace, W. Va., left for his new post last evening. Mr.

Moore is a native of the Emerald Isle and was educated at Trinity College, Dublin.

After finishing his education he came to this country, over which he traveled extensively. Mr. Moore represented the Republic in this city for a number of years and leaves a host of friends, all of whom wish him success in his undertaking.

Gen. Porter and the Hog.

"When I go to France I want to be thoroughly American. Among the various subjects that I will have to consider will be that of the American hog." I suppose I have to take up the subject, upon discussion being accorded this important question. The hog has long been a bone of contention between this country and the countries of Europe. I know something about the hog, for I served in the Army.

The only trouble then was getting enough of it. You never got tired of pork in the Army, although you did get tired of beef and mutton sometimes. The soldiers got so skillful in foraging that they could catch skin and quarter a hog without leaving the rank or ever losing sleep. The result of this was a strict order prohibiting foraging in the Army. Nevertheless, a day or two after the promulgation of the order, Mulhoney, a private soldier, was seen emerging from a shady lane with a pig under his arm. The general, riding by, called Mulhoney and severely reprimanded him for his flagrant act of disobedience. Mulhoney was silent and thoughtful, but the squeals of the pig grew louder and louder. Mulhoney, finally, to show his respect, slapped the pig and said, "Hold yer tongue, yer yer, and let the general squeal."—New York Times.
